Artwork transforms garbage spot into beautiful walkway

Pourakarmikas also draw rangolis in areas that are usually dirtied by litterbugs

Mysuru, Oct. 16 (GA&BCT)- Suddenly, a dull residential area that was hitherto a garbage dump has come to life, thanks to the artistic initiative taken by a Corporator and the officials from the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC).

The site has now come to be known as perhaps the city's first public-art-cum-awareness area where wall paintings and beautiful graffiti have taken the place of ugly garbage dumping sites.

For many years, the residents of Ward 19 at Vontikoppal near the one side of Ramakrishna Ashram have been dealing with many garbage dumping spots. Area Corporator Bhagya Mahadesh has taken up an integrated approach to beautify the area to a beautiful walkway.

"People throw their garbage at this spot and it gets scattered along the whole stretch due to scavenging dogs and cows. The MCC workers would come and clean as much as they could whenever people raised grievances, but after ten minutes someone would throw garbage again. We figured that if the stretch was beautified, people would refrain from dirtying the place," Bhagya Mahadesh told Star of Mysore.

Unfortunately, walkers used to sit on stone benches in the area amidst garbage. "It was difficult to come to this place because of the scattered garbage. We painted over their dingy road-facing wall with vibrant artwork to discourage passers-by from littering along the stretch. Thanks to the initiative taken by MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy and Zone 4 Development Officer Y.T. Hegananda, Rs. 4 lakh grant was released," she explained.

'Not a good idea'

According to a resident of the area who often visits the road for morning and evening walks, while the painting on the compound wall is a welcome move, the appropriation of the spot where garbage was earlier dumped for laying figures of animals made from discarded tyres and cement is not a good idea at all because it obstructs the free passage of those people who want to use the footpath. At this point, the pedestrians will have to walk on the road where usually there is heavy traffic movement and as such dangerous to their life.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

When my friend Latha excitedly welcomed the new addition to her house, the kind of bond she developed was a revelation to the rest of us. As she introduced the object of her affection, Disha, the twinkle in her eyes, the warmth in her voice and the overwhelming love she felt were hard to miss. She even cooed and baby talked to Disha while involuntarily petting her with her palms. Indeed, by bringing Disha into her home, it's as though she let love in.

It is said that the feeling of motherhood is an instinct that can happen even at the first ultrasound and not necessarily at the time of birth. But in Latha's case neither was there an ultrasound nor any birthing pain; all it took was just a shiny catalogue to trigger her motherly instinct towards Disha. Of course, she has mothered baby birds, orphaned puppies, not to mention her own daughter and even her mother.

But this was different. It was as though a magic spell was cast on her. Prior to Disha's arrival, minor matters ticked my friend off, like the milk boiling over, maid not turning up and soon. Post Disha, she is a different person. Disha softens her heart and seems to say, "You don't have to do it alone".

Now, she can't stop talking about the invaluable help Disha extends, her dependability, and what a low maintenance she is. Don't let the last bit of the sentence shock you. Latha's motherly instinct had been kindled, by her robot cleaner, Disha. We can see how birds, before nesting, monitor and carefully choose a place to nest, where there are no potential threats. It wasn't much different when Latha chose the docking station for Disha at a suitable power point, easily approachable without any impediments on her way.

Mark Woods in his book Pregnancy for men observes that Mother Nature turns pregnant women into frenzied cleaning machines ahead of the new arrival. Little did he know that a cleaning machine could kindle the nesting instinct in an Indian mother.

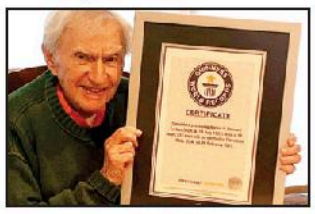
The oldest practicing doctor, 100, has no plans to retire



Ohio: A 100-year-old Ohio man who holds the Guinness World Record for being the world's oldest practicing doctor said he has no plans to retire anytime soon. Dr. Howard Tucker of Cleveland was initially certified as the world's oldest practicing doctor in February 2021, when he was 98 years and 231 days old.

Tucker, now 100, said he continues to work full time, with his typical day lasting from 9 am until 6 pm. The doctor said he caught COVID-19 shortly after his 100th birthday in July, but he continued to teach his residents via Zoom while recovering. "I regard this Guinness World Records title as a singular honour and look upon it as another achievement in a long, satisfying and happy life," Tucker told Guinness World Records.

The centenarian, whose wife, Sue, 89, is also still working as a practicing psychoanalyst, said he has no plans to retire.

"Gosh, no! I believe retirement is the enemy of longevity. Even in my younger years, I never once contemplated retirement," he said.

REALLY...?

- The saxophone is the only instrument in wide use today that was invented by a single individual — a musical instrument designer named Adolphe Sax, hence the name saxophone.
- Sax was born in Belgium in 1814. He was a versatile musician who could play many wind instruments and he set out to create one that would not only embody the soloistic and lyrical nature of a woodwind but also be better heard among brass instruments. In 1846, his invention, the saxophone, was patented in Paris.

Provide land for Kidwai Centre in city limits, NOT outskirts

Sir,

It is heartening to know that a branch of Kidwai Cancer Research and Palliative Care Centre is being opened in Mysuru.

According to the report in Star of Mysore dated Oct. 14, the land allotted is in Yelwal, which is at present in the outskirts of Mysuru city.

The present Palliative Care is functioning in a small way inside PKTB Sanatorium campus on KRS Road. This campus is sufficiently vast and is inside the city limits, close to Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research, also on KRS Road.

In my opinion, the Kidwai Centre can be accommodated comfortably in this compound.

This will help relatives reach the inpatients without much difficulty, travel time and cost. It will also help logistics.

I request the Mysuru DC to recce the PKTB Sanatorium campus along with political stakeholders in this respect and reconsider allotment of land to the Kidwai Centre in city limits only and not on the outskirts as it will inconvenience the patients and their attendants.

Rs. 7.93 crore windfall for KSRTC during Dasara

Mysuru, Oct. 16 (SPN&DM)- The KSRTC, which has been struggling to overcome losses due to rising operational expenses, received a major boost during Dasara as the KSRTC's Mysuru Division registered a record collection of Rs. 7.93 crore in a period of just 13 days from Sept. 28 to Oct. 10.

In order to meet Dasara rush, the KSRTC Mysuru Division ran 271 additional buses — 179 buses of Mysuru depot, 51 of Chamarajanagar depot and 41 of Mandya depot, to different destinations of the State. While 226 of them operated from the Suburban Bus Stand, 45 operated from the City Bus Stand, according to Mysuru Divisional Controller Ashok Kumar.

Due to special Dasara operations, KSRTC earned a revenue of Rs. 3.17 crore in the period from Sept. 28 to Oct. 9 and a record Rs. 4.76 crore in a single day on Oct. 10, thus recording a total collection of Rs. 7.93 crore in 13 days, during which over 7 lakh people travelled. In 2019, when Dasara was last held in a full-scale, KSRTC had earned a revenue of just about Rs. 1.67 crore.

Ashok Kumar further said that the KSRTC earned a revenue of Rs. 7.93 lakh from Dasara package tours — Giridarshini, Jaladarshini, Devadarshini, Ooty Package and Mysuru Darshini, in the period from Sept. 28 to Oct. 9.

The KSRTC had deployed 53 buses, including 17 buses for Jaladarshini, 20 for Giridarshini, 5 for Devadarshini, 4 for Ooty Package and 7 for Mysuru Darshini, in which a total of 2,020 people travelled.

Ambaari double-decker bus collection at Rs. 28.21 lakh

The double-decker Ambaari bus service, operated by the KSTDC (Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation) for visiting tourist spots and enjoying the Dasara illumination in the city, was a huge hit among the tourists and other visitors, as the KSTDC logged a record revenue collection of Rs. 28.21 lakh from this special service, in the period from Sept. 24 to Oct. 12, when the city witnessed a huge tourist influx for Dasara.

While the ticket for upper deck was fixed at Rs. 350 for a one-hour ride in the city, the price was Rs. 250 for the lower deck. A total of 9,121 tourists travelled in Ambaari buses in the 19-day period.

Dasara tableaux makers allege injustice

Mysuru, Oct. 16- The Dasara tableaux makers of Chamarajanagar and Bagalkot Zilla Panchayats (ZPs) have alleged injustice in announcement of prizes.

Tableaux makers D.K. Ranganath and H. Mahadeva, in a complaint lodged with the DC, maintained that Chamarajanagar and Bagalkot tableaux prepared by them were attractive and it is a gross injustice that the two tableaux were not considered. They further said that when questioned, the judges said that the two tableaux were given a high rating and it is Dasara Tableaux Sub-Committee that created confusions in the announcement of prize. But the Sub-Committee claims that they announced prizes as recommended by judges.

Subsequently, the Sub-Committee Working President, who is also the ZP Chief Planning Officer, admitted that there was some confusions in the announcement of prizes and that the two tableaux prepared by them would be soon given a Special Prize. But this did not happen and now the Officer is saying that no prize can be given now and that they would be given prizes next year, they alleged. Charging the judges of favoritism, Ranganath and Mahadeva alleged that all the judges were from Mysuru region and hence there are lapses in prize announcement. Claiming that North Karnataka has been given a raw deal in awarding of prizes, they demanded a review of prizes and rendering of justice to the tableaux that truly deserved prizes.

The girl was referred to a private paediatric clinic in Mysuru by doctors in K.R. Nagar and the clinic doctors alerted the District Health Officer (DHO) on the symptoms.

DHO Dr. K.H. Prasad said that the blood samples of the girl were sent to the Virus Research and Diagnostic Laboratory (VRDL) at Bengaluru Medical College and Research Institute, the designated lab in the State for monkeypox surveillance and the test results have come negative.

The girl has been diagnosed with chickenpox and she is under treatment. Even the blisters and boils on her skin are showing signs of subsiding. She will be discharged from the hospital in another two or three days, the DHO said. The girl had initially developed fever and it has now been established that it is a case of chickenpox and the child is positive for varicella zoster virus. The child had no travel history. "There is no need of panic and this is a virus attack and is not life-threatening. Treatment protocols have to be followed and there are medicines to cure the condition," Dr. Prasad added.

Pt. Rajeev Taranath:
An amazing musical genius

Sarod Maestro Pt. Rajeev Taranath's 90th birthday will be celebrated by Pandit Rajeev Taranath Felicitation Trust in Mysuru on Oct. 17. A Padma Shri awardee and a long-time resident of Bengaluru, he now resides in Mysuru. Pt. Rajeev Taranath was trained in Sarod by none other than Ustad Ali Akbar Khan.

The felicitation function will be held at JSS Women's College Auditorium in Saraswathipuram at 6.15 pm on Monday. Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji will grace the occasion. Writer Dr. Chandrashekar Kambara, Ustad Faiyaz Khan and Kannada Sahitya Parishat former President Dr. Manu Baligar will be the chief guests. Besides a musical tribute Naadaanjali, a felicitation book 'Swarayana', edited by Ganesh Amingad and Raghupati Thamankar, will be released on the occasion. A short film 'Pandit Rajeev Taranath – A Life in Music' by Amshan Kumar will be screened. Here is a tribute to the living legend by Bhamy V. Shenoy.

By Bhamy V. Shenoy

My wife and I had gone to Pandit Rajeev Taranath's house to give him his favourite Konkani dish. We thought that our visit will last for no more than 30 minutes.

My wife casually asked what she thought was a simple question: How did Rajeev meet Ali Akbar Khan? This got him to share his life's story with some amazing revelations.

He was studying English Major in Bangalore and he heard that Ravi Shankar was giving a concert. He had a girl friend who was interested in music and he was also interested to listen to Ravi Shankar who was by that time famous. He had a scholarship of Rs. 15 per month and he managed to buy tickets for his girl friend, her father and himself. Then he learnt there was another musician Ali Akbar Khan playing Sarod. Rajeev had no interest to listen to Sarod, but he was now committed to the concert.

When he heard Ali Akbar Khan that day, his life changed for good. He decided that he would become a disciple of Khan Sahib (he referred to him as Khan Sahib out of reverence throughout our discussion). He completed his studies. Since he had stood first in BA honours he was given the job immediately. BA honours was considered as equivalent to MA.

However, after a few months of working in the college, he decided to resign and study music under Ali Akbar Khan. What a bold step and dedication to music. He was young and did not have any money.

He went to meet Ali Akbar Khan in Mumbai and requested Khan Sahib to take him as a student. First he refused and asked him if he was really serious. When he said yes, he finally took him as a student. In Mumbai, he managed to stay with his relative and pursue the practice.

While in Mumbai, family problem took him away from his music lessons. One of his uncles had fallen sick of TB and responsibility of taking care of him fell on the shoulders of young Rajeev. He spent seven months to take care of his uncle and took him to famous Nanavathi Hospital. After he recovered, Rajeev was back to his music lessons. Such were the traditions at that time. Family ties were strong. How about now?

After a year, Ali Akbar Khan left for Calcutta and Rajeev followed him. However, in Calcutta he did not have any relatives.

Ali Akbar Khan had two wives and two houses — one was a Muslim wife and another a Hindu one. Hindu wife had left him and her house was vacant. Khan Sahib asked Rajeev to stay there along with two more of his students. In the house when there was no food, Rajeev managed to live on buying peanuts for six annas a day. After some time, when the first wife of Khan Sahib learnt about a loafer living in her house, she asked the neighbour to throw all the students from the house.

Rajeev Taranath lending his support to save People's Park in 2014.

'My Guru never charged me'

During the narration, Pt. Rajeev Taranath casually mentioned that his Guru never charged him and he has adopted the same principle. Currently, he is teaching five US students in California who are between 30 years and 60 years. He expressed anguish that Indians do not show such intense desire to learn music. Amazing that even at age 90, he is able to work for the cause of music.

Rajeev was now on the road. He stayed in the bus stand where he could sleep and take bath. During day time he would go to a park and have his daily meal of peanuts.

One day a rich Parsi industrialist student of Khan Sahib saw Rajeev in the bus station and asked him what he was doing there. He tried to give some excuses and not reveal his miserable situation. But the Parsi student managed to find out the truth about Rajeev. He contacted his Bengali friend who had an empty room in his house. Owner of the house invited Rajeev to stay in the room.

Rajeev finally had a house to stay, but no food to eat. Each day he would go out and eat six anna peanuts and return home. One day his landlord found out what was happening and told him that he should eat with them. Rajeev first refused. Then the couple told Rajeev that if he does not eat then by turn they would also not eat food. Finally he agreed.

While he was with Khan Sahib, Dr. C.D. Narasimhaiah (CDN) sent a word to Khan Sahib that he wants his best student to come back to complete his MA. Rajeev returned to native Karnataka and completed his MA. He got a job as a teacher. While in Mysuru he fell in love with a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Venkatesh.

Once Ravi Shankar chided him why he was wasting his God-given talent and also told him that Khan Sahib has wasted his energy by giving the greatest gift of the music inherited from Tansen to him. It seems Khan Sahib descended from Tansen's family. Rajeev meekly asked him what he should do. He urged him to resign his job immediately and continue to play Sarod. Rajeev readily agreed. It shows Rajeev's dedication to music.

He narrated an incident with Siddharamaiah to express how generous the former CM was. Rajeev told the former CM that he was doing so much for Kannada and Siddharamaiah asked him what he can do for him. Rajeev requested to support him to organise music concerts. On the spot he sanctioned Rs. 35 lakh.

I asked Rajeev if he has written any autobiography and the response was in the negative. He felt that there was nothing of consequence to share and was quite humble. I think otherwise ▪

Along with the artwork, there are wall paintings that show messages urging people to segregate waste and not to litter. "We wanted to create awareness on waste management and cleanliness through paintings. People have been asked to segregate the waste and put garbage in the dustbin. These paintings have been made not only for beautification but also to give the message that cleanliness is a good habit necessary for a clean environment and healthy lifestyle," Bhagya Mahadesh added.

A novel initiative

"The MCC staff and officers have identified hundreds of such garbage dumping spots that can be beautified to deter littering. Of them, each Zonal Office have been allotted 10 to 12 places to beautify and a budget of Rs. 30 lakh has been reserved. The painting and art work in Ward 19 are attractive and has earned the appreciation of people. We have also taken up drawing rangoli patterns on the roads to prevent littering. Women Pourakarmikas, who know how to draw rangoli have been encouraged to use their skills at places where garbage is regularly dumped."

Maha Kumbha Mela concludes

Congress is mired in corruption: CM Bommai

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai performing a ritual during the valedictory of 4-day Maha Kumbha Mela at Triveni Sangama in Akkihebbal hobli of K.R. Pet taluk in Mandya this morning in the presence of Seers of various Mutts, Ministers, other officials and devotees.

K.R. Pet, Oct. 16 (Mohan Raj &DM)- Alleging that Congress was mired in corruption when in power and that is why the people voted it out of power, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that top Congress leader Rahul Gandhi may have forgotten the huge scams when the Congress Government was in power in the State and at the Centre.

He was speaking to reporters upon his arrival at Ambigarahalli Helipad ahead of taking part in the valedictory of the 4-day Maha Kumbha Mela at Triveni Sangama near Ambigarahalli-Sangapura-Pura cluster villages in Akkihebbal hobli of K.R. Pet taluk in Mandya this morning.

Reacting to Rahul Gandhi's allegations that jobs were up for sale in Karnataka, Bommai reminded the Congress leader that scams such as question paper leak, Police Constables recruitment etc. happened during Congress rule and the Congress had no moral right to speak about corruption.

Replying to a question on Opposition Leader Siddharamaiah's assertion that the Congress would return to power in next year's Assembly Polls, Bommai said that whatever Siddharamaiah had said in the past about BJP has never come true.

"Siddharamaiah as the Congress CM five years ago, had boasted of retaining power in the 2018Assembly polls. But that did not happen with the Congress winning just 79 seats. The Congress leader had also said that B.S. Yediyurappa (BSY) would never become the CM again. But BSY returned to power just a year later in 2019. These are some of the examples that what Siddharamaiah says do not happen in reality," Bommai said.

Replying to a question on flood damages in the latest bout of rains, Bommai said that heavy rains has returned to lash the State for the past couple of days and Mandya is one of the worst affected districts.

Stating that the Government will release funds for relief, rehabilitation and road repair works, he assured that the Government will take all necessary measures for addressing flood issues across the State.

Referring to the major road accident near Arsikere in Hassan district late last night, in which at least nine persons were killed and several others were injured, Bommai termed the incident as unfortunate and announced Rs. 2 lakh compensation to the families of each of the deceased. He further said that Hassan District in-Charge Minister K. Gopalaiah would return after the conclusion of Kumbha Mela to take stock of the situation.

Bommai later went to the Triveni Sangama, the confluence of Cauvery, Hemavathi and Lakshmanatheertha rivers, and sprinkled water on his head, instead of taking a holy dip, in the presence of a host of Seers, Saints and others. He prayed the deities for prosperity of the State and welfare of the people.

Later, the Chief Minister walked up to the stage and inaugurated the valedictory of the four-day Kumbha Mela.

Uttar Pradesh (UP) Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, who was supposed to inaugurate the valedictory, could not make it due to floods in his home State.

Adichunchanagiri Mutt Seer Sri Nirmalanandanatha Swamiji, Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, Bebi Mutt Seer Sri Trinetra Mahanta Shivayogi Swamiji, Chitradurga's Dr. Basavamurthy Madara Channaiah Swamiji, Salur Mutt Seer Sri Shanta Mallikarjuna Swamiji, Vinay Guruji, Ministers K. Gopalaiah, K.C. Narayanagowda, B.C. Nagesh and Byrathi Basavaraj, BJP National General Secretary C.T. Ravi, Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambarish, MLAs B. Harshavardhan and C.S. Niranjan Kumar, Mandya DC S. Aswathi, Additional DC H.L. Nagaraj, SP N. Yathish and a host of other officials and political leaders were present.

Devotees at Triveni Sangama in K.R. Pet on the concluding day today.

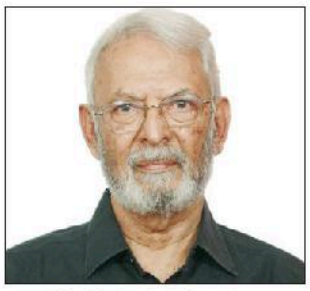
TRAVELOGUE

Ladakh: The dizzy heights -3



By Ashvini Ranjan

A tent with all the comforts of a hotel room for tourists at the Chamba Camp in Thiksey village, Nubra Valley.

Thiksey village and Diskit Monastery

Friends are surprised that we stayed in a tent at the Chamba Camp in Thiksey village. Surprisingly, it had all the comforts of a hotel room but in an open field. It was a unique experience. Our tent faced the Diskit Monastery on the hill at a distance. The lamps that are lit at night in the monastery with the backdrop of the snow-capped mountains makes it an incredible sight. The camp which consists of thirteen tents is managed professionally by a private company.

Apart from being the largest monastery of Central Ladakh, the monastery is also famous for its 49 ft tall statue of Maitreya Buddha in the lotus position, covering two floors of the monastery. It offers excellent views of the Indus Valley and nearby monasteries. The sunrise from the monastery is supposed to be stunning. But the effort to rise early to catch a glimpse of the 'Bright Star' was in vain as the skies were overcast and raining. Come rain or come shine, to the monks who live there, it is just another day dedicated to the service of Lord Buddha.

Besides the sand dunes and scenic landscapes, Nubra Valley is also famous for the unique double-humped camels called the Bactrian camels. Only other place this rare animal is found is in the Gobi desert in China and in Mongolia.

Sonam Wangchuk

Those who have seen the movie Three Idiots will recall the character of Phunsukh Wangdu, the genius inventor with exceptional talents which the hero portrays. Surprisingly, it is not a fictional character. This person exists in real life under the name of Sonam Wangchuk. In fact he is believed to be the inspiration behind making of the movie and lives in Ladakh. He is a qualified engineer, inventor and an educationist. He is the founding-director of the Students' Educational and Cultural Movement of Ladakh. He has more than four hundred patents, most of which is related to solving the everyday challenges of local people. According to Namgyal, Sonam Wangchuk is an adviser to the Governments of Bhutan and Nepal.

Turtuk village and Chewang Rinchen

Turtuk is a quaint village inhabited by approximately 1,200 people almost entirely belonging to the Muslim community. It is one of the northernmost villages of India, close to the Line of Control between India and Pakistan. Turtuk is situated on the banks of the Shyok River. During the Indo-Pakistan War of 1971, this area was the site of the Battle of Turtuk in which India regained control of this territory for the second time. The first being in 1948. In both the wars, Chewang Rinchen played heroic roles and both the times he was awarded Maha Vir Chakra (MVC), the second highest military award of the country.

The first time was in 1948 when Rinchen joined the Indian Army. He was 17 years old and studying in the 9th standard. After a week's training, he led 328 men with only 28 rifles and succeeded in pushing back the aggressors. His extraordinary bravery and cunning he displayed was exemplary and kept the enemy at bay for weeks. Years later, Mohammad Yusuf Ahidi, Commander of the Pakistani raiders, noted in his book Baltistan Par Ek Nazar: "If Chewang Rinchen had not foiled these attacks, we would have been masters of Ladakh." He won acclaim even from the enemy. The people of Turtuk were under the rule of both Pakistan and India at different times. When India reclaimed the territory during the 1971 war, the entire population rejoiced as they found India to be more fair and humane to its people. The Indian tricolour that flutters at the Turtuk village represents both pride and gratitude of its people to India.

Bidding adieu to Ladakh and to Namgyal

"Lots more stories and plenty more places to see in Ladakh sir. Do come back," said our guide Namgyal, as we shook hands to go our ways at the Rimpochee Airport at Leh, the capital of Ladakh.

Poaching of squirrels, birds rampant near DC Office

Mysuru, Oct. 16 (MTY&BCT)- For the residents of Mysuru, the squirrel is arguably the most mundane mammal. But their population is gradually declining thanks to the extensive poaching and laying of snares. These poaching incidents have been reported from the heart of the city in areas that are dominated by shady trees and canopies.

The area around the Deputy Commissioner's Office is surrounded by vast swathes of green areas with parks and umpteen number of shady trees. This place, while being an ideal place for squirrel and bird habitat, is also a favourite hunting ground for poachers who hunt these animals for meat and the fluffy tail to sell them as an ornamental piece and trophies.

The snares made with plastic ropes are tied to the trees and poachers play the recorded squirrel calls on their mobile phones to draw the animals towards the snares. This was, however, noticed by a few media persons last Saturday who in turn alerted the Forest Department officers. But sensing trouble, poachers, who had carried bags with them, ran away.

The forest staff found many snares laid on the trees and on the fencing boundaries. Cases will be booked under the Wildlife Protection Act, they said. Field staff would be deployed to inspect the area for traps and there will be regular monitoring in that area, officers added.

"We got photographs of the poaching and also snares and will take stringent action under the Wildlife Protection Act, 1972," officers said. They requested people and nature enthusiasts to inform the Department if they noticed such offences and added that action would be taken immediately.

People who frequent the area and who normally take rest under the trees said that earlier, hundreds of squirrels roamed the vicinity and used to feed on berries and other food abundantly available on the trees and also on the ground. But their population has gradually declined. Even the bird calls are rarely heard these days.

Apart from using snares, poachers use cater bill (slingshot) to hunt birds and squirrels for their meat and tail. "If a secure place like the DC's Office becomes a hunting ground for poachers, then what can be said of other protected areas? The Forest Department staff must put up surveillance, at least a couple of times in the day, to deter these poachers," opined an environment activist.

Huge crocodile near Yele Thota creates tension

Mysuru Zoo staff, Forest Department personnel make attempts to capture the reptile

Mysuru, Oct. 16 (SBD&KS)- A huge crocodile, spotted in the Raja Kaluve, near Yele Thota yesterday, has created tension among the public, especially the residents of the surroundings.

Following the sighting of the crocodile, the Mysuru Zoo staff and Forest Department personnel conducted an operation to capture the huge reptile but in vain and have asked the public and residents of the vicinity to inform them if they see the crocodile again.

Yesterday, a few people, who were working at the shops near Yele Thota Circle, spotted the crocodile in the Raja Kaluve and the Forest Department officials, who arrived at the spot at 1 pm, saw the crocodile in the corner of the Raja Kaluve. Range Forest Officer (RFO) Surendra, Deputy Range Forest Officer (DRFO) M.V. Venkatachala and staff stayed at the spot and were observing the movement of the reptile.

Meanwhile, the Forest Officials contacted Mysuru Zoo authorities and asked them to send their team to capture the crocodile. The team from the Zoo, which arrived at the spot along with necessary equipment at about 4 pm, began their operation to capture the reptile immediately.

Though it was difficult for the Zoo team to capture the crocodile, the team went forward to capture it by laying huge nets across the Raja Kaluve from the bottom and placing huge stones on it to prevent the reptile from escaping.

A few members had also made nooses using ropes and even tried to put it around the crocodile but in vain. The crocodile made an escape by swimming through the passage made by the water force. The team members again tried putting the noose around the crocodile but failed in their attempts. Though they had placed the noose around the snout of the reptile, it wriggled and rolled over, got freed from the noose and escaped. As it had become dark, the team withdrew the operation.

As the news of the crocodile spread in the morning, a large crowd had assembled at the spot, which made the crocodile take shelter in the corner of the Raja Kaluve. Manju of MCC's Abhaya team, stayed at the spot and prevented people from venturing close to the crocodile.

The Police, who had arrived at the spot much before the arrival of Forest officials, controlled the crowd and stayed at the spot till the operation was withdrawn.

It is not known, how the huge crocodile came to Raja Kaluve near Yele Thota. Following rains, water flow in the Raja Kaluve has increased and it is suspected that the crocodile may have come from Sewage Farm side or from Karanji Lake side.

But the presence of the huge reptile in the Raja Kaluve has created tension among the residents of the nearby Kanakagiri and surrounding areas. They fear that if the water level in Raja Kaluve increases due to heavy rains again, the reptile may come out of it and venture into nearby localities.

Meanwhile, the Forest Department officials have asked the residents, auto drivers, who park their autos at Yele Thota Circle to inform them if they spot the crocodile again.

WORD OF THE DAY

Proffer

Pronunciation: PRAH-fer.
Meaning: Proffer is a formal word meaning "to present (something) for acceptance."
Origin: As rhyming synonyms, proffer and offer are quite the pair, and we can proffer an explanation as to why: both come ultimately from Latin offerre, meaning "to present, tender, proffer, offer." Offer had been part of the language for hundreds of years before proffer was adopted by way of an Anglo-French intermediary in the 14th century. A more formal word than its plainer relation, proffer often emphasizes courteousness on the part of the one doing the tendering.
Example: "Already, critics and fans have proffered their share of theories as to the One True Meaning of 'Crimes of the Future.' Some see it as an eco-fable about the damage humans have inflicted upon their environment. Others see a meditation on [filmmaker David] Cronenberg's identity as an aging artist, an interpretation reinforced by [actor Viggo] Mortensen's perhaps-ironic comment that the film is 'autobiographical' for Cronenberg." — Noah Gittell

THE ODD WORD

Palaeopedology

Study of early soils.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A penny saved is a penny earned

Meaning: The phrase 'A penny saved is a penny earned' means that it is as useful to save money that you already have as it is to earn more.
Origin: Almost everyone has heard of this famous expression. Unlike many others, the origin of the idiom 'A penny saved is a penny earned' is well known – it comes from Benjamin Franklin's book, Poor Richard's Almanack. Interestingly, this successful series of books which was filled with advice, household hints, and amusing puzzles, also contained numerous witty phrases such as the one in question; like it, many of them are still in use today.
Example: "I'm going to give you $20, but I want you to put it in the bank; a penny saved is a penny earned!"

QUOTE BOX

Whatever your dream is, every extra penny you have needs to be going to that. —Will Smith
